INVESTIGATION IS A PASTIME

Congressional Activity Costly but Thrives on Increasing Requests.

By RALPH H. TURNER
(United Press Staff Correspondent.)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—Investigation continues to be one of the most popular pastimes of Congress.

The cost of these investigations, one senator announced the other day, has reached "scandalous proportions." He didn't indicate the exact extent of this cost. He didn't know. No one does. There is one investigation yet to be ordered—namely, the high cost of investigating.

But another investigation, conducted by the United Press, reveals that during the Sixty-sixth Congress alone (the present one) resolutions have been introduced asking for 212 investigations. Only sixty of these resolutions, it is true, were passed, but the larger figure indicates that the congressional penchant for investigating still thrives.

Every conceivable subject is covered in the "probes" which Congress desires. Here are a few of them:

Substitutes for railroad crossings. Socialistic activities in the Federal Trade Commission.

Alleged chemical treatment of foods. Garden, city and suburb movement in Europe.

Feasibility of using saccharin as substitute for sugar. Suspension of a Washington school teacher.

Discrimination against individual lackmen in District of Columbia. The troubles bothering the American people are reflected to considerable extent by the number and nature of proposed investigations. Thus, the high cost of living is covered by at least a dozen different resolutions, touching upon every imaginable phase of that problem.

The type of coal prices, ex-service men, the housing situation and Mexican congress also is concerned with:

The detention of Dr. William T. Ellis in Cairo.

A British embargo on the sailing of an Argentine steamship. Acceptance of gifts by the president.

Incompetence and loss of prestige in the war. Whether Henry Ford benefited from the improvement of River Rouge, Mich.

The prices of men's collars. Immunity tax dodging.

Some of the resolutions are never even voted on. Sometimes the investigations are approved, but never started. Sometimes they start, but are never concluded. Again, there are investigations which have been completed, but the result hasn't been announced.

It's difficult to figure the cost of these inquiries because no two are conducted in the same way. The cost will depend on the length of the investigation. In some instances, counsel is employed and must be paid. And then there is the expense of stenography and printing. Frequently traveling and other expenses for witnesses must be paid.

CHURCH'S DEBTS TO BE PAID

Dean Edwards Attended Christian Church Officials' Meeting.

Dean C. D. Edwards of the Bible College returned yesterday from St. Louis, where he attended a joint meeting of the Board of Education of the Christian Church and the Christian Missionary Society. The meeting was to consider plans for a campaign to raise money to pay their underwriting of the Interchurch World Movement. It was urged that the money should be raised by July 1.

A. E. Cory, formerly a missionary to China, was called to lead the campaign. At present Mr. Cory has his headquarters in New York. Steps were taken at the meeting to secure Gay Hoover of Indiana for the head of the department of promotion of the Board of Education.

The secretaries of all the national societies and benevolent agencies of the Christian Church, and presidents of all the Christian schools, attended the meeting. There were representatives from Kentucky, Ohio, Illinois, Indiana, Nebraska, West Virginia, New York, Oklahoma and other states. Mrs. L. W. St. Clair-Moss of Christian College was the only woman at the meeting.

DR. HILL SUGGESTED COURSE

University Pioneer in Citizenship Classes, Says Paper.

From the Monroe County Appeal. Missouri University students will very generally smile at the charge that Dr. A. Ross Hill, who is about to retire as president, was an American in his sympathies. Any of these students will tell you that every member of the freshman class of that institution is compelled to take a course in "The Problems of American Citizenship." This course was adopted by the Board of Curators at the urgent request of Doctor Hill, who became convinced of its need in the early days of the war. Missouri thus became the pioneer in this line of education.

The service rendered to our government by Doctor Hill during the war, and the fact that he has been called to one of the highest positions with the American Red Cross, would be ample refutation, were any really needed, of the reflections that have been made upon his Americanism by men who know better themselves.

STATE TO SEND GIFT CORN

C. H. Gray Will Represent Missouri Farmers in Movement.

Chester H. Gray, president of the Missouri Farm Bureau Federation, has been appointed by Director Carl S. Vrooman to represent the Missouri farmers in the gift corn movement. The local office of the Farm Bureau Federation is today sending definite data to all county farm bureaus of the state. Shipments of corn are to start immediately.

The federation is making a complete canvass of all counties to ascertain how much corn will be sent from each county and the number of cars needed. The state office will be responsible for enough cars being at the station on dates specified to handle the gift corn.

Transportation will be handled by Howard Jackson of Chicago, who acted as Herbert Hoover's traffic manager during the war. Yellow corn will be exchanged for white at terminal markets. Corn of number 4 grade or unsuitable for market will not be loaded.

NEW SCHOOL FOR LONDON

Will Facilitate Graduate Work of American Students of History.

By C. K. CUMMINGS
LONDON, Feb. 26.—The large number of American students who come here to gather material for postgraduate work will welcome the news that next May a new school of historical research will be opened in London. Hitherto such students have had to carry on their researches in London's libraries and archives.

The new school will offer them every aid and facility in finding the particular thing they are after with the least possible delay, and in addition, will insure frequent contact with those who are engaged in the same kind of work.

The school will be a part of London University and will constitute the department for advanced work in history for all the component colleges.

ENGROSS DECORATION BILL

Measure Providing for Paintings in Capitol Amended.

By a Staff Correspondent.
JERUSALEM, CTS., Feb. 26.—The Capitol paintings and Senator W. C. Irwin of this city again came in for a share of the Senate's consideration yesterday afternoon when a motion was made to reconsider the mural decorations bill.

An attempt was made to discuss the beautifying of the Capitol grounds with part of the $300,000 of the appropriation but the senators in general appeared unfavorable to such action.

"The whole of the fund could be spent on the interior decorations," one of them remarked. Senator Irwin's remarks were chiefly concerned in clarifying other senators regarding the fund from which the appropriation was to be made.

Hiram Lloyd, presiding officer of the Senate, found it necessary to interrupt the discussion to remind the senators that they were wasting time when other measures should claim their attention. A brief exchange of views followed and the bill was ordered engrossed and printed with an amendment that provided "no funds shall be expended until approved by the governor."

BLANCHE SWEET

IN

"FIGHTING CRESSY"

By Bret Harte—

A drama of Western Charm, of Rugged Hearts, of of Flaming Passions and the Call of the Open.

"Your old men shall dream dreams, your young men shall see visions."

Joel II, 28

YOUTH paints in brilliant colors.

To older, dimmer eyes the wonder and the glory of life grey down.

In engineering, the sciences or whatever other work you take up, you will go far if youth means to you enthusiasm, faith in your ambitions, the spirit that exults in achieving what other men call impossible.

So while you plug away at those knotty problems in hydraulics or conic sections, keep an open mind to the larger issues—visions of great achievement through great service.

To the youthful Bell, as he experimented in the vibrating properties of eardrum and tuning-fork, came in fancy the clear tones of human speech pulsating over wires from far away. Without the vision he could not later have evolved the living fact.

You have a like opportunity now to think about your work in a broad way—and the bigger your purpose and your will to serve, the bigger your accomplishment.

The electrical industry needs men who can see far and think straight.

Western Electric Company

The part which for 50 years this Company has played in furthering electrical development is an indication of the share it will have in working out the even greater problems of the future.
